NEWS HERVE BARMASSE

NOT SO FAR WON THE AWARD FOR THE BEST
MOUNTAINEERING FILM IN DOMZALE

THE REASONS FOR THE JURY

This documentary is a tribute to classical European alpinism. It does not, however, focus on history; instead it follows the author's trilogy of ascents in the Alps. From his home valley of Aosta, Hervé Barmasse climbed three famous Alpine peaks – Mont Blanc, Monte Rosa and Monte Cervinia (Matterhorn). The three climbs were made in the style of his famous ancestors who broke new ground in these mountains – with first ascents and a healthy dose of adventure.
